I just talked to him. He is fine either way. I am inclined to keep him here, at least until we get a better handle on the FOIA load. If we find that there are not enough volunteers for deployment, we can reassess.

Give him a call or email and discuss it with him. See if he has ideas. Yerusha has a family emergency and I don't know if she will be in this week.

Ben – We will work it out either way but my concern with Mark is that we may have some significant FOIA issues to address and he is particularly good with them. I don't want to limit the opportunities, and we will figure out how to manage it if he goes, but I think we need a plan if he does.

I had Edelstein email the people listed as points of contact with his offer.
